

I oppose loosening the rules designed to promote and protect diversity of media ownership. These rules were adopted to ensure that the public would receive a diverse range of viewpoints from the media, and not simply the opinions of a handful of media conglomerates. The cable ownership cap is a crucial element of our democratic media, and it should not be weakened.

The public's eyes are becoming glazed.... They do so MUCH READING, but actually learn only a few tiny FACTS! It is heartening to come upon an investigative reporter such as Gregory Palast (even though we have to go to London to do that), who not only gives depth of information to a subject, but may even produce a personal observation now and then, which comes from knowledge and not instruction from rich newspaper "owners."

Please keep our news medias (ALL of them) free of this conglomerate mentality with only one point of view.
